Nicaragua

Market overview

Nicaragua, famous for its nature and volcanos, is embedded between Honduras and Costa Rica. It is one of the weaker countries in Latin America when it comes to economic figures.

The country has 7m inhabitants and the economy reached a GDP of 13bn USD in 2020. This means, every Nicaraguan inhabitant contributed just over 2k USD per year to the overall economy, being a low amount compared with neighboring countries. The inflation rate plateaued since 2014 at around 4%, but historically, it has always been higher. Unemployment rates are volatile and moving between 3 and 8 percent, with 2020 reaching 6%. The main export partner of Nicaragua is the US, stemming 60% of the total export amount.

The main economic sectors in terms of GDP are services with nearly 50%, followed by industry with about 25%, and agriculture sitting at around 16%. While agriculture has the lowest impact on the GDP, about 30% of the workforce is employed with that sector. The opposite holds true for the industrial sector, that only employs 16% of the workforce.

In terms of e-commerce preparedness, according to UNCTAD, Nicaragua is placed second to last before Haiti with an index value of 29 (Haiti 20, Costa Rica 69). This rank shows that Nicaragua still has enormous development potential.
